THE SPIRIT of the HOME REFLECTED in its LIGHTING

THE development of Interior Lighting has done more to enhance the beauty and attractiveness of the modern home than any other single factor. Appropriate lighting reveals the hidden charm in otherwise dark and sombre corners, brings out the best in every decorative feature, and transforms the four walls of wood and plaster into a Home of colorful beauty.

Of all the decorative elements in the Home, artificial lighting yields most to our will; it expresses the individual, portrays his moods and fancies, and reflects the personality of the moment. The decorative effects attained by properly selected fixtures may be bright and sparkling, dainty and colorful, subdued and intimate; may depict hospitality, happiness, contentment.

Our designers and craftsmen have co-operated to build into the fixtures shown in this book, utmost efficiency, intrinsic beauty, and harmony of line and finish; to make them eloquently expressive of the spirit of the home. The many designs allow the most discriminating a wide range of selection to fill every lighting and decorative need.

To make comparison and selection most convenient for you and your costomer, we have arranged this catalog, showing the Early English, Wild Rose, Colonial, Bed Room and Cast Aluminum Lines in colors endeavoring to reproduce as nearly as possible the actual finishes as described.

The dining table is all the more attractive when it is brilliantly lighted. Snowy linens, sparkling cut glass and porcelain white china call for lighting effects equally as splendid to bring out their real beauty.

These fixtures deliver an abundance of light well diffused. The lamps are shaded to protect the eyes from the direct rays.

The Kitchen as the workroom of the house, is best lighted by a central ceiling fixture of the character of No. G2162, G2224 or G2241 shown below.

This arrangement furnishes a flood of well-diffused light devoid of troublesome sharp shadows.

The G2224 is equipped with a convenience outlet, where the electric iron, toaster, etc., can be attached; it also has a switch to control the light independently.

Where the kitchen has no wall switch, we suggest G2241 as it is equipped with a Levolier switch.

It is a distinct help to the housewife when a bracket is placed above the sink. G2004 shown on this page or G1798 shown on page 99, are ideal brackets for this purpose.

EFFICIENT STORE LIGHTING

Appropriate Fixtures for Store Lighting must serve a two-fold purpose. First of all, they must efficiently diffuse the dazzling light of the modern high-powered lamps. Properly distributed and well diffused light, free from glare and disturbing shadows, is an asset to any store for it increases the efficiency of the sales force, makes the display of merchandise more effective, and attracts customers. In addition, the fixtures themselves should be attractive in appearance and in harmony with their surroundings.

The fixtures shown on this page meet the double requirements of highest efficiency and refined elegance. The PURELITE glass ball diffuses the glaring brilliance of the high powered lamps and transforms it into a softened radiance that is agreeable and restful to the eye. In design and finish they embody the dignified simplicity that adds prestige to any establishment. The contrast of antique gold against the darker background of rusty iron adds distinct individuality not found in the usual store fixture.

G2159–G2202 and G2158, shown on page 101 of the color plate section, are identical in design and finish but are equipped with etched glass ball in harmony with the elaborate equipment of the most sumptuously furnished building. G2155, G2156 and G2157, also shown on page 101, are finished in rich statuary bronze and are equipped with the PURELITE glass ball.

THE proper lighting of Banks and Public Buildings calls for abundant illumination without offensive brightness—a perfectly diffused light. The best evidence that Macbeth-Monax meets all requirements is shown by the preference given it by architects and owners in the selection of equipment where the prime considerations are efficiency, permanence and economy. Macbeth-Monax is handsome when lighted and loses none of its beauty in daylight.
